ST. JOHN'S DAY.

St. John's day, June 24, was fittingly celebrated by the Masons of Weber lodgs No. 5, at the Hot Springs. The affair was advertised as a basizet nichie, but though there have been picnies and pionies at the springs, there was mover such a one as this. It was one continuens round of galety and jovial fellow feeling. Nearly every Mason in Ogden was present with his femily, and each had the privilege of inviting two guests from outside the order.

About 5 o'clock the picnicers were startled by the sound of music toward the south, and a few minutes later there marched up to the grounds the following gentlemen from Salt Lake:

F. C. Schramm. Charley Stanton, Chester Nason and W. W. Woodman. They were arrayed in white hats and dusters, and carried drums which they beat lustily. A banner carried by one of them informed the onlockers:

"We are not the pioneers of '47, but the hustlers of '97."

Judge MacMillan made a brief speech in the pavillon, and so did F. C. Schramm, the burden of his speech being that the long walk from Salt Lake had made him hungry.

In the evening the inimitable Charley Stanton sang a song to the time of "Ta-ra-ra, Boom de Ay." It hit off the fads and fobles of some of the well known Masons in such a mainer as to bring out the most uprocarous applaase. It is too good to keep, and is here published;
